Historical Note

Marguerite Helen Butler (1892-1982) was born to John Butler and Caroline (Carrie) Bradbeer Butler in Cincinnati, Ohio. She had two older siblings, brother Walter Butler and sister Jeannette (Jeannie) Butler. Marguerite was educated at schools in Cincinnati before attending Vassar College (Class of 1914). After her graduation, she moved to rural Harlan County, Kentucky, to teach at the recently founded Pine Mountain Settlement School from 1914 to 1922. Marguerite next traveled through Scandinavia with Olive Dame Campbell for 18 months, studying Scandinavian folk schools and related cultural institutions.

Marguerite joined Olive in Olive’s long-sought goal of establishing a folk school in the Southern Appalachian Mountains of the United States. The duo traveled throughout the region to locate a site. In fall 1925, Marguerite came to Brasstown (Clay County), North Carolina. Meeting with enthusiasm from the local community, she and Olive decided to found the John C. Campbell Folk School (JCCFS) in Brasstown. Purchasing land from the Scroggs family just over the county line in Cherokee County, Olive and Marguerite incorporated the school in 1925, began constructing more buildings and establishing community programs in 1926, and opened the school to its first students in 1927.

Marguerite lived at or near the Folk School for the rest of her life. She was most known for her leadership of music and dance programs, in particular recorder music, English country dance, and Danish folk dance. In 1936, Marguerite married Danish immigrant and long-time Folk School employee Georg Bidstrup (1902-1971). Georg had arrived at the Folk School in 1926; he managed the school's farm and taught Danish gymnastics and folk dance. Georg also served as Director of the Folk School from 1952 to 1967. Marguerite and Georg built their own home, designed by Henry Irving Gaines and named "Bidstrup Acres," in Brasstown in the 1940s. The couple had no children, and their estate was inherited by their friends and fellow Danish immigrants Knud Øland (1921-1991) and Lissi Øland (d. 2016).

Scope and Contents

The Marguerite Butler Bidstrup Papers consist of the family and personal papers of JCCFS co-founder Marguerite Butler Bidstrup. These papers were partially organized and added to by Lissi Øland after she inherited this collection from the Bidstrup estate. The collection was donated to JCCFS by Lissi's daughter Helen Øland, who shipped the collection in seven large boxes from Denmark. The order created by Helen and/or other researchers was not maintained as the collection was processed into 16 series once received at the JCCFS Fain Archives. (See 2024.14 Processing Notes for more details.)

The Butler Family series consists of papers originating from Marguerite's family, especially her parents and her sister Jeannette Butler. These include the oldest materials in the collection: schoolwork completed by Marguerite's mother in the early 1870s. Calendars are largely unused calendars published by organizations in which Marguerite was involved. Certificates include records of Marguerite's education, book copyrights, and significant life events. Clippings from newspapers and magazines span a large range of dates and subjects. Key topics include Pine Mountain Settlement School, JCCFS, and Appalachian culture. Some clippings clearly post-date Marguerite's life and may have been added to the collection by Lissi Øland.

Correspondence is primarily personal letters and cards directed to Marguerite; few materials are addressed to Georg Bidstrup or are directly concerned with official JCCFS matters. A large amount of the personal correspondence consists of Christmas cards. This series also contains photocopies of Marguerite's letters written while she was at Pine Mountain Settlement School, c. 1914-1922. The originals of these letters are in the archives at Pine Mountain Settlement School. While this collection contains some significant original correspondence between Marguerite and Olive Dame Campbell, the majority of their correspondence is in JCCFS collection 2021.6

sunsigned or with illegible signatures. Photographs of correspondents are occasionally found in this series, either included with letters or printed on Christmas cards.

The Journals & Notebooks series includes journals kept by Marguerite from 1912 until 1923, and in 1930. Most of these journals were photocopied prior to donation, and these photocopies were retained by the archives as access copies. Notably, this series includes the journal Marguerite kept during her and Olive Dame Campbell's study trip to Scandinavia. A transcription of this journal is also included in this series. Notebooks include schoolwork; recording of personal connections through autograph, address, and birthday books; and notes on research and travel interests, including folk dance and local sayings.

The Music series is primarily published sheet music and music books, with a focus on Christmas music, recorder music, and folk music. A larger representation of the Bidstrups' books, especially about folk and dance music, can be found in JCCFS collection 2022.69 (Georg and Marguerite Bidstrup Library). Newsletters are from JCCFS and Pine Mountain Settlement School; these are not complete runs of the newsletters from either location. Notes are primarily handwritten notes, presumably by Marguerite. They are mostly related to her travels and folk school work. Publications include some general reading from Marguerite's personal library, but the collection is primarily articles, magazine or journal issues, and books on Appalachian and folk school topics.

Travel Ephemera includes brochures, maps, and other printed information related to Marguerite's travels. Besides two maps of eastern Kentucky and a map of Nantucket, MA, all of the information is about Europe. The Vassar College series is primarily published alumnae materials, with a focus on the Class of 1914. A notable exception is a large scrapbook related to Marguerite's time and connections at college. Writings includes a Christmas manuscript, likely compiled by Vassar students, and the handwritten manuscript "The Barrington Bum Number," which may be another school or college relic. The series also includes unpublished handwritten or typewritten articles that are primarily by authors other than Marguerite. Notable in this collection is a book-length, typewritten Danish manuscript (author unknown) about Sigurd Nielsen, who started the creamery at JCCFS. Finally, the Miscellaneous series is an assortment of ephemera that do not fit into other series in this collection.

Photographs contain thousands of images, primarily black and white, of Marguerite's family, her travels, JCCFS, and her time at Vassar College and Pine Mountain Settlement School. Some photographs, mostly in the "Miscellaneous" folders, may be from friends with whom she corresponded throughout her life. Photographs are primarily organized into folders and labeled according to the binders or envelopes in which they were donated to the Fain Archives. Loose photographs were found unassociated with other images or materials. Original enclosures were retained when they included relevant information and/or mark associated materials. Because original sorting into binders or envelopes was retained as much as possible, some photographs may be placed into folders or sub-series which they do not fully match (for example, non-JCCFS buildings or people included in groupings labeled for JCCFS or mostly corresponding to JCCFS). While most of the photographs are undated, they appear to range primarily from the early 1900s to the 1940s, with some from the 1950s and 1960s. Photographs related to JCCFS and the Brasstown area as well as a selected number related to Marguerite's childhood and family have been digitized.

Slides contain hundreds of photographic slides, primarily of the Bidstrups' international travels to Europe, Israel, and elsewhere, as well as several folders of Appalachian and Folk School-related images. All of the slide folders remain organized based on the slide drawers, slide boxes, and other enclosures in which the slides were originally found; folders are labeled with the original enclosure labels, when known. Appalachian and Folk School-related slides have been digitized and cataloged, but the series has not undergone any further sorting or processing. The slides likely continue in date range where Marguerite's photographs end, documenting events in the 1950s and 1960s. Many slides are undated and unlabeled.

Arrangement

The collection is arranged into 13 boxes. Boxes 1-7 contain manuscript or printed materials, boxes 8-12 contain photographs, and box 13 contains slides. Three artifacts are cataloged as 2024.14.1-2024.14.3 and stored separately (see PastPerfect catalog for locations).
